Conclusion: The proposal sees the alteration of a roof and has adequately demonstrated that no protected species will be impacted as a result of the works. Standard good practice should be followed to ensure any subsequent species found, when carrying out the works, are handled correctly and not harmed. Although the dormer marginally increases the internal usable floorspace for the property and it is already above the ndss, the dormer does not significantly increase the size of the property. There is no increase in footprint and no increase in bedrooms. It is considered that the rationale to provide adequate head height, in this case is acceptable without enlarging the property significantly is on balance acceptable. This is on the basis that the dormer proposed has no other material impacts either of the aesthetic of the existing dwelling or visual impacts on the wider landscape and no material harm to the privacy and amenity of neighbouring properties. The house remains a local need home subject to a S106 legal agreement.

EIA: Due to the scale, nature and location this development will not have significant effects on the environment and therefore is not considered to be EIA development.

Considerations under Human Rights Act 1998 and Equalities Act 2010: The provisions of the Human Rights Act 1998 and Equalities Act 2010 have been taken into account in reaching the recommendation contained in this report. In discharging their functions, must have “due regard” to the need to:

- b) Advance equality of opportunity between persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and persons who do not share it; and

Having due regard to the need to advance equality of opportunity between persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and persons who do not share it involves having due regard in particular to the need to:

- a) removing or minimising disadvantages suffered by persons who share a relevant protected characteristic that are connected to that characteristic;
- b) take steps to meet the needs of persons who share a relevant protected characteristic that are different from the needs of other persons who do not share it
- c) encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any other activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low.

Whilst there is no absolute requirement to fully remove any disadvantage the Duty is to have “regard to” and remove OR minimise disadvantage and in considering the merits of this planning application the planning authority has had due regard to the matters set out in section 149 of the Equality Act 2010.
