Regarding 7 Buzza Street from 8B Buzza Street

I am delighted that the decking area and screens have been removed from this application, and have no objection to any of the internal and ground floor plans.

I still have concerns about the size of the windows upstairs. When the applicants wanted the deck, I understood why a full height and width window was submitted. As the plan has now changed, I don't see why such a huge window is necessary and would request a smaller window in keeping with existing properties as my preferred option. With no access possible, later on, when the juliet balcony inevitably needs replacing owing to inclement weather and salt, the deck won't be installed 'by stealth' and retro-fitted.

I have looked for information about the screens intended to protect privacy and can't see any dimensions or what they will be made from. With such a large window, the angle of sight from the far right edge of their window and the far left of mine is a concern.

Noise is still a concern. As all three properties will potentially be used as holiday lets, a smaller window will prevent holidaymakers climbing onto the flat roof and partying.

Owners treat their properties in a completely different way to those who are just there for a week, or two.

Best wishes,

Heather
